

Jitterbugs Tent Meeting March 29th 2014

Can there be a nicer feeling than a group of like minded people of low intelligence and skill, coming together to enjoy an evening in the company of Stan and Ollie?

And so it was that your Grand Sheik did such a thing recently as the members of the Jitterbugs Tent gathered in the surrounds of our national broadcaster for another irregular Tent meeting!

The Sons of the Desert like to think of themselves as a big happy family. Dysfunctional at times, but certainly full of love and fun. With this in mind, we chose a “family” theme for our meeting and began the night’s jollity with “Twice Two”. Giggles and laughter soon filled the room as Messer’s Laurel and Hardy and their respective wives and sisters got into all sorts of hassles and situations. “But I don’t have a big mouth do I?”

We paused, as we do, to take a break, take a sip, take stock...and to completely take the mick out of Tom and Colin. We brought to light their recent unacceptable behaviour at the UK Convention last year and as a punishment, they undertook the “Quiz of the Year” and failed miserably to get a single question correct! Would we expect anything less?

A screening of “Our Relations” to wondrous applause ended our evening of fun and with loyal toasts and our sing-song complete, we departed for our various houses, pubs and asylums promising to do it all again real soon.....
