Sons of the Desert

The International Laurel and Hardy Appreciation Society in association with slapstick.ie

are delighted to be returning to The Charlie Chaplin Film Festival in Waterville.

The pioneering work undertaken by cinema's early comedians laid the groundwork for much of today's comedy films. By their actions, the early slapstick antics of Chaplin, Laurel and Hardy, Lloyd and Keaton brought the world much laughter and jollity when it needed it most.

Between them, Charlie Chaplin and Laurel & Hardy are arguably the greatest early comedians that graced the silver screen.

Based in The Butler Arms Hotel, we will be hosting a Laurel and Hardy Museum with rare original scripts, autographs and fun displays that will take the audience into the early world of Charlie Chaplin and Laurel and Hardy.

Join us for two exciting presentations, one of which will explore the connection between Chaplin and Laurel (did you know they were once roommates on the vaudeville circuit). And the other will take you back to the 1950s, when Stan and Ollie came to Ireland. Both are full of rare photos and artefacts and are presented in a relaxed and fun atmosphere with the opportunity for audience participation.

See you there.....
